

Speech Allowed In The United States

People with speech outside the allowed range are labeled nuts, evil, ignorant, selfish, racist, homophobic, white supremacist, misogynistic, Nazi, terrorist, or worse. Once these labels are applied, communications, opportunities, and relationships are irreparable destroyed.

These standards are primarily promoted by the media (news, movies), social websites, schools, and the government. After that, in an effort to distance themselves from negative publicity, customer, vendor, and employee backlash, large to small companies adopt these same attitudes.